YOU CAN FIND SOMETHING. MORNING REVIEW

JAY, JANUARY 24, 1900.

GENERAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. M. Y. Givier is quite sick. George W. Ehrhart left for Chicago last night.

Judge Nelson went to Sullivan yesterday on business.

Miss Mary Colby, of Macon, is visiting Decatur friends.

Charles Devore, of Pekin, is visiting friends in the city.

J. E. Bohler left for Cincinnati yesterday on a business trip.

Druggist James P. Richardson has moved to 1014 East James street.

M. L. Hughes has recovered, after a week's illness with la grippe.

Mrs. W. B. Bresle is quite sick sick at her home, 624 East Prairie street.

Miss E. W. Anderson left for Rogers' Park yesterday, to visit with friends.

Elmer Adams and Oscar Frazier, two of Moweaqua's sold citizens, were in the city yesterday.

Mrs. A. W. Leslie and two children, of Lincoln, Ill., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Vengum.

Samuel Clark, bookkeeper for R. S. Bohon, left for Lincoln yesterday to visit friends and relatives.

Rev. H. W. Brown, the Baptist evangelist, is now a guest of J. E. Saxton. Prof. Hillis, the musician, is being entertained by Henry Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keyes departed yesterday for their home in New York City, after an extended visit with Mrs. W. T. Downing, of this city.

Lincoln Times: Miss Nellie Lynch entertained a number of her friends at her home on Logan street Monday night. The event was in honor of her guest, Miss Clara McElroy, of Decatur.

The engagement of Miss Bessie Guyton to C. P. Libby, Jr., of Chicago, is announced. Mr. Libby is a member of the firm of Libby, McNeil & Libby, a firm that ranks in importance with Armour & Co. and Fairbanks & Co., of Chicago. He began at the bottom, learned the business all the way up, and now has charge of two or three departments.

Want Decatur's Ideas.

City Attorney McDonald received a letter yesterday from the city attorney of Chicago, who asked for a copy of the ordinance regulating electric street railways. That city is soon to have a railway operated by electricity.

The city engineer of Indianapolis wrote to City Engineer Burgess for plans and specifications for brick pavements, and the address of manufacturers here of paving brick. They have never used brick pavement there yet, but are going to try it.

The Free Lodging House.

There is now no reason to doubt the speedy establishment of an industrial home and free lodging house in this city. The matter is in able hands, who do not believe in procrastination in this matter, and whose efforts bear abundant promise of success. Every one is directly interested in this movement, will be directly benefited, and should help the union. The Industrial Union will strive to furnish work for all seeking it, and failing in this, will see that deserving applicants do not suffer for food or lodging.

Change of Systems.

The Decatur Gas and Incandescent Light company had a force of men engaged yesterday in putting in new wires, etc., in the depot offices and other places on their circuit, preparatory to changing from the U. S. system now in use, to the Alternating, which it is claimed is much better in every way.

Died.

Mrs. J. D. Shaffer, formerly of this city, died at the family residence in Springfield yesterday afternoon. No particulars have as yet been received by friends here. Two of her sisters, Mrs. James Park and Mrs. Harry Snarr, were with her. Mrs. Bradley returned from Springfield on Wednesday evening.

Will be "Vagued."

There were 18 lodgers at the Short Street station last night, a great portion of them men who were ordered to leave town yesterday morning. Instead of doing this they burned and begged enough to get a keg of beer, and proceeded to fill up on it. They will probably be tried for vagrancy to-day.

Death of Mrs. Shaffer.

Mrs. M. A. Bradley received a message last night from Springfield, announcing the death of her sister, Mrs. J. D. Shaffer, who formerly resided in Decatur, where she is well known. Mrs. Bradley left on the 9 o'clock train for Springfield.

Bicycle School.

Commutation tickets, $5 for 30 hours of riding; time as you please, 15, 30, or 60 minutes. Persons not holding one of the tickets pay for use of wheel 10, 15 and 25c respectively. Nos. 110 and 114 Library Block, William street.

Synchronized Clocks.

E. M. Camden, the electrician of the Synchronized Clock company, was here yesterday, looked over the ground with a view to connecting the clocks, and left for Chicago. He will return next week and put the system in order.

Stapp's Chapel.

The meetings continue at Stapp's Chapel with good attendance and interest. Alonzo Gray led the early meeting last night, and Rev. Springer preached from Ezekiel, 36:26, 27. Meetings at 2:30 and 7 p. m. to-day. All are welcome.

A Sorrowful Home-Going.

Rev. C. Shafer, of La Salle, Ill., was in the city last night with the dead body of his wife, which he was taking to her old home in Staunton, Ill., for burial. He was accompanied by William Vettie and F. Duerha, also of La Salle.

Insane.

News reaches this city from Cerro Gordo that Dan Hass became violently ill yesterday through religious excitement. No particulars.

ALMOST A FATALITY. THE GOLDEN WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. J. Y. BRADEN.

It is not given to many husbands and wives to enjoy 50 years of each other's society, to walk a half century together along life's uncertain pathway, and therefore it is not surprising that when that does happen the golden wedding celebration should be a peculiarly happy and interesting one. When the couple is such a one as Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Braden, with the hosts of warm friends that they have, it is not strange that the celebration should almost amount to a monster demonstration.

Elly years ago yesterday Laura Alzina Huntington was married to James Y. Braden by Isaac C. Pugh, a justice of the peace. The ceremony was performed in the residence of Joseph Williams, which then stood on the lot on North Main street now occupied by the Haines building.

It was to celebrate that wedding that over 200 people gathered yesterday at the family residence about four miles north of Decatur.

The Decatur guests, about 50, went out on the 12:20 T. H. & P. train, which stopped at the house.

Soon after their arrival dinner was served. Its excellence was only equalled by its dimensions. Besides several roast pigs, there were 20 roast turkeys, roast beef, escalloped oysters, and everything in proportion that any one could think of. After the dinner dancing was enjoyed by the members of the company of all ages. That filled the afternoon pretty full, until the Illinois Central came along at 5 o'clock and the Decatur guests returned home.

There was an immense number of presents. Among them was a gold-headed cane and a chain for Mr. Braden, and a gold-rimmed pair of spectacles and a chair for Mrs. Braden, presented by the old friends of the couple who reside in Decatur.

All the children of the couple were present except Jerome Braden, of Colorado, who was kept away by the snow blockade. The other living children are: John E. Braden, Thomas J. Braden, Flora A., the wife of William Brad, George A. Braden and Cora A., the wife of William T. Dillehunt. Three have died.

During the afternoon the fact leaked out that the party was at the 11th anniversary of the marriage of Cora A. Braden to W. T. Dillehunt.

Among those who went out from Decatur were Messrs. and Mesdames F. L. Hays, H. C. Johns, James Millikin, J. R. Gorin, T. W. Pinkerton, George Myers, Judge Ricketts, Starr Cool, M. Ellison, L. Burrows, John Capps, John R. Miller, Frank Hall, Firm Roach, B. O. Mellevolds, C. F. Betzer, Mesdames Milton Johnson, O. B. Gorin, B. Blackstone, W. W. Mason, W. P. Stamer, I. A. Buckingham, Dr. Barnes, Miss Josephine Stamper, Messrs. J. R. Race, E. W. Moore, Casper Elwood, J. J. Peddicord, Holmes O'Leary, George Harry, L. W. Cool, George W. Bright, J. M. Crane, and from several other places, among whom were ex-Gov. R. J. Oglesby, who wrote a characteristic letter. He was one of the few present at the wedding 50 years ago. He was then but a boy of 16.

TRACK AND TRAIN.

Brakeman Frank Osborne has opened a boarding house and lunch counter, at 508 North Jasper street.

Will J. Chenoweth, operator at Oakley, was presiding the 11th anniversary of Decatur friends yesterday.

Supt. W. R. Bresle of the Pacific Express company, whose illness has been mentioned in these columns, was much worse yesterday.

Train crews are greatly demoralized because of the la grippe in their ranks.

A special, carrying T. H. & P. officials on an inspection tour was in the city yesterday.

Supt. Boyd of the I. D. & W., was in the city yesterday.

Ticket agents report the busiest day of the season is railroad travel yesterday.

Clyde Lewis accompanied Ed Mills to Bloomington yesterday, to attend the wedding of Miss Carrie Willis, last night.

Conductor Smith, of the Illinois Central, is laying off, and Brakeman O'Connor is dilling his place.

Engineer Purcell, of the T. H. & P., is sick.

Conductor Bob Stephens resumes work to-day on the T. H. & P., after a lay-off of several days.

Conductor Selby, of the P. D. & E., is sick with la grippe.

General Manager Greene, of the Big four, and party in a special car, came in on Wabash 42, and departed over the I. D. & W. for Indianapolis on No. 4.

Harry Dodson has quit running freight, and is now braking on a passenger train.

Looking at Our Railways.

J. R. Scott, St. Riley, George Ely, Jr., J. Flemming, N. Miller, J. W. Woodcock, J. M. Miller, and H. A. Ward, all of Chicago, city officers and prominent citizens interested in the construction of the new electric street railway there, were in Decatur yesterday to look at our systems. They were met by Supt. Ferguson and D. S. Shellabarger of the Citizens line and with them made a tour of the line in the vestibule car. They expressed themselves as much pleased with the system. Afterwards they went to the Main street horse house and saw the fire department turn out. They took dinner at the St. Nicholas, and returned home on the Illinois Central in the afternoon.

Rev. Clappett and Miss Ewing.

A Bloomington paper says: "The engagement is announced of Miss Nellie Ewing to Rev. F. W. Clappett, and their marriage, which is to occur in the near future, will be a notable society event, owing to the prominence of the contracting parties. Rev. Clappett is rector of Christ church, Springfield, and is a brilliant pulpit orator. The bride-elect is the second daughter of James S. Ewing and is a young lady of culture and rare personal beauty."

Died at Macon.

Mrs. Clint Dunkle, sister of W. C. and E. W. Armstrong, died at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at her home one mile south of Macon. She had been sick for some time and her death was not unexpected. She leaves a husband and several children. W. C. Armstrong went to Macon last night. E. W. Armstrong and some others will go this morning. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

La Grippe.

Five members of John Finn's family are down with the "Grippe." Squire Foster has succumbed to it. D. A. Barrachuan joined the sufferers yesterday. J. N. Dunne, the shoe maker, has got it. John Ewing and David Park, farmers at the new shaft, are experiencing its sensations. Frank Denton is doing his best to lose his grippe, and there are numerous others almost ready to join the ranks of the sufferers.

"A SCRAP OF PAPER." THE BLOOMINGTON DRAMATIC CLUB'S PERFORMANCE LAST NIGHT.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Prosper Courtenay..... D. M. Smith

Baron de la Glaciere..... W. L. Marston

Brienne..... R. M. Dodson

Anatole..... K. E. Williams, Jr.

Baptiste..... Spencer Ewing

Francis..... Kirk Harwood

Louise..... Miss Lucile de Luce

Suzanne de Rosville..... Miss Rachel Crother

Mathilde..... Miss May Fitzwilliam

Zembla..... Miss Clara H. Smith

Madame Du Pont..... Miss Elsie Brown

Pauline..... Miss Nellie Ewing

The performances of our own Dramatic club have led Decatur people to expect more than is generally required of amateur actors. Notwithstanding that, the work of the members of the Bloomington club that presented "A Scrap of Paper" with the cast above was no disappointment. While one can not overlook the fact that the acting was not perfect, it can still be said that it was on the whole extremely good, and was a worthy and pleasurable rendition of a very bright and attractive comedy. The play itself afforded opportunity for the display of considerable ability, and that was not lacking. The whole performance passed off so smoothly and evenly, and so little awkwardness or stage fear was manifested that it was difficult to realize the performers were not veterans at the business. During the first act it appeared that the scene was set in a large stage and house, and the immense audience was somewhat cold, but that wore off as the play progressed. From the opening of the second act applause was frequent, and at its close there was a recall.

We have to thank our Bloomington friends for a delightful evening, while the ladies of the Charitable union thank them for a handsome addition to the union's funds. Just how much was made for the charity is not known now. About $50 was taken in at the box-office last night. It is thought that will go a long way towards paying the expenses, which will leave clear the returns from hundreds of tickets previously sold. The Woman's exchange served supper in the cafe after the play. That was well patronized. Dancing on the stage followed the play, and was kept up until a late hour. Twelve numbers were on the program.

The music of the evening was unusually fine. Several pieces were prepared by Prof. Walters for the occasion. The orchestra came in for a good share of applause.

The visitors came on the morning and evening trains yesterday. Besides those whose names appear above, there were Mrs. A. B. Funk, Miss Quigg, of Chicago, Miss Toms, of St. Louis, and Miss Smith, guests of Mrs. Funk; Miss Nellie R. Smith, Miss May Johnson, F. J. Evans, Charles A. Funk, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Spencer, and Lester Wymond. They are still in the city, the guests of members of the Decatur Dramatic club.

Miss Crothers is entertained by Miss Lucile Duffee; Mrs. Lucile de Luce is the guest of Miss Mary Ewing; Miss Elsie Brown is with Miss Mary Voorhies. Mrs. F. M. Young has as her guests Mrs. Fitzwilliam, Miss Fitzwilliam and Miss Smith. Spencer Ewing is a guest of the family of C. A. Ewing. Some of the gentlemen are at the St. Nicholas.

Death's Dilemma.

Arm Broken.

Frank McCormick, living in the eastern part of the city, had his arm broken yesterday afternoon. He was in a wagon receiving coal from the chute at the new shaft, and was stopping down slowing away coal when a large lump was thrown in the wagon and struck him on the left arm, breaking it above the elbow. Dr. Barnes attended the wounded man and eased his pain.

Arrested by Uncle Sam.

Kester & White, saloon keepers doing business in the old Kraft stand on the east side of the park, were arrested yesterday by Officer Leech and a deputy United States marshal for violation of the revenue laws. They were taken to Springfield last evening and will have a hearing this morning.

A Social Party.

A pleasant social party was given last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stafford, 279 West William street, in honor of John Hestetter, of Davenport, Iowa, a visitor to our city. The evening was spent pleasantly in games, music, and in discussing the really delicious viands prepared for them. Among those present were: Misses Nellie Stump, Maud Lellingwell, Maggie Leforgee, Maud Sargent, Jessie Barry, and F. H. Stafford. Also O. B. Gorin, Hestetter, Chen Leforgee, S. A. Anderson, William Humphrey, and A. A. Anderson.

Suicide.

Special Correspondence to THE REVIEW.

Mrs. J. P. Paris was in Decatur Monday. Will Nicholson is in the sunny south.

There is a great deal of sickness in town. A great number are suffering with la grippe.

Rev. Gilland has been engaged as pastor of the Christian church.

There was a law suit at the town hall Wednesday.

Mr. Skudark had an attachment served on some tools that belonged to Leo Frover. It ended by Leo taking his tools and going down to the mine to work.

The thermometer was down to zero Wednesday morning. Wednesday night it began snowing. What we need is more rain. Oh give us rain. Our cellars are beginning to get dry and we would like to have enough rain to fill them again.
